

Job Description for:

Data Research Assistant

Classification: Office Assistant II
Division: Administrative Services
Reports to: Administrative Services Manager
Supervises: None

Job Definition

The Data Research Assistant position processes requests for records information, answers public inquiries, and produces authentic magnetic tape copies of public safety records. Responsibilities also include maintenance and security of communications tapes and inventory control, as well as researching, analyzing and compiling data in response to specific requests. Information can be provided verbally, in written form, and in tape format. The incumbent maintains confidentiality according to the records disclosure laws and local rules and may testify under oath as to the validity of records. This position also participates as a key member of the Administrative Services Division team, including providing back-up and assistance to other team members as needed.

Distinguishing Characteristics

The Data Research Assistant is a single incumbent position. It is classified at the same level as Office Assistant II due to comparability in general complexity of work and of independent authority and judgment exercised.

Under general supervision, the Data Research Assistant performs the full range of data research duties, as noted below, and provides certain office support functions, including reception coverage, as assigned. Results of the work can impact the reliability or acceptability of processes or services; thereby affecting organizational and operational goals and objectives, directly or indirectly.

The incumbent applies initiative, discretion, judgment and independence in accomplishing the work. Guidelines are available in the form of policies, procedures, general instructions and performance standards and evaluations. The supervisor and/or other subject matter experts are available to assist and advise on unusual problems. Work is reviewed for thoroughness, accuracy, timeliness, and compliance with local policies and procedures. The employee at this level does not supervise other employees or perform lead functions except for special projects.
